

We make leaders better

BUCCINO
LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

Greatness
has a new name.

Buccino Leadership Institute
at Seton Hall University.

Our world needs leaders with vision, strength and character.
We're answering the call.

At the Buccino Leadership Institute, we invest in individuals who aren't just great themselves, but who inspire greatness in others. As an institution, we have a rich legacy of leaders beginning with Elizabeth Ann Seton, the first American-born saint, who defied tradition and forged a way for those who followed.

Here, we define leaders as those who aren't afraid to speak truthfully, think critically, and serve before they are asked to serve. We believe that true leaders strive to always become a better version of themselves and advocate for those around them. Their confidence is recognizable and their vision contagious.

That's what it means to be a Seton Hall leader.

Leading by example

The Institute is named in honor of Gerald P. Buccino '63, Seton Hall Regent Emeritus and a nationally recognized pioneer of turnaround management. He has provided generous financial support to the University for years. He is also a recipient of the Medallion of Entrepreneurship from Beta Gamma Sigma, the international business honor society. In addition, he is actively involved in mentorship and coaching, sharing his wealth of experience with students who want to become great leaders.

Changing the world by changing how leadership is taught.

Maybe your goal is to become a nursing administrator, a creative director or a government official. Maybe you're not sure what you want to become, but you know you're meant to lead.

The Buccino Leadership Institute is unique in that we believe leaders can come from all disciplines, not just traditional fields like political science or business.

That's why our distinctive four-year program combines expansive leadership development with specific discipline preparedness that complements your chosen major. After acceptance into the program, you'll learn through focused mentorship, specialized instruction and exposure to real-life experiences. So whether you're pursuing the humanities, international relations, social sciences or the health professions, you'll graduate with an undeniable advantage.

Buccino Leadership Institute Named 2022's "Most Outstanding" Leadership Development Program

by the
ASSOCIATION OF LEADERSHIP EDUCATORS

Leadership isn't just what you know. It's how you live.

Our outcomes-oriented approach shows you how to be an exceptional leader, make tough decisions and excel in your career — in any field.

Embrace the curriculum

Our curriculum works in tandem with your area of study, providing leadership fundamentals and in-depth focus on our seven pillars of leadership. Take assessments such as the Eq-i 2.0 emotional intelligence assessment and the DISC behavioral assessment.

Live the experience

Here you'll put learning into action. Attend talks featuring thought leaders, take field trips to influential places like the 9/11 Memorial, hire and lead an interdisciplinary team on a semester-long project, or run one of our high-profile Institute initiatives. Work with your personal ICF-certified leadership coach.

Excel as a top performer

Our emphasis on peak performance psychology helps you succeed in stressful situations — in and out of the classroom. Using the same techniques as Olympic athletes and military special forces, we highlight focus, visualization and resilience techniques. These skills help you in other areas such as public speaking and test-taking.

Widen your worldview

We break down barriers. You'll learn in an interdisciplinary manner; for example, social work students will learn next to education and business students. This gives you the added benefit of learning how to work effectively with multi-disciplinary teams, making you invaluable to future employers.

Where do you go from here? Anywhere you want.

Your journey begins at the Buccino Leadership Institute, but where you go next is up to you. After graduation, you'll receive a special certificate that showcases your leadership experience and helps you stand apart in a sea of resumes. Here's a quick look at what your four-year journey at Seton Hall will look like.

Leading Yourself

You'll discover how to best evolve your unique strengths and identify opportunities to develop through individual assessments and interdisciplinary team projects during your spring semester.

YEAR 2

Leading Others

You'll take part in weekly focus sessions and work with your own professional leadership coach. You'll discover how to improve an organization's culture, motivate others and grow your influence ethically.

YEAR 3

Leading in the Discipline I

As you progress through the program, you'll receive specific leadership training that relates directly to your major. You'll gain opportunities to lead Institute-wide initiatives, work within your cohort and mentor incoming students.

YEAR 4

Leading in the Discipline II

In your final year, you'll hone your skills through a group project and undergo a final personal assessment — ensuring that you have all the tools you need before entering the workplace.

In good company.

Your fellow leadership students are bright, visionary and passionate individuals—just like you. This community of friends will invest in your success and push you to excel. Beyond your peers, you'll be mentored by upper class students, Buccino Leadership Institute faculty and experts in your field. And you'll gain access to an extensive network of alumni professionals.

Luciana Contuzzi
PRESIDENT AND OWNER, ZEST

"The Leadership Program opened doors for me. There were networking opportunities with alumni, professors and executive mentors. Through critical-thinking experiences and internships, I realized that entrepreneurship was my true calling."

Matthew Askin
GLOBAL RISK MANAGEMENT, BANK OF AMERICA

"From day one, the Leadership Program presented me with limitless paths to personal growth. With this boundless opportunity comes a responsibility to live with purpose and lead by example."

Briana Glass
OPERATIONS SPECIALIST, YOUTUBE

"Thanks to the Leadership Program and the Career Center, I had four amazing internships, including two at Google in their California headquarters, which led to a full-time job offer."

Katie Mazzarelli
REGISTERED NURSE, ST. PETER'S UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

"My leadership experience transformed me into a confident professional that reaches goals. I use skills that the program gave me every day as a Registered Nurse that help me impact my field in ways I would have never imagined."

Emmanuel Olatunde
SOFTWARE ENGINEER, BLOOMBERG LP

"In this program, I learned not to be afraid of failure. After freezing during a presentation, I made myself a promise to improve my public speaking skills and get outside my comfort zone. I got feedback and learned from every interview I went on until I got a yes from Bloomberg."

Daniela Maquera Sardón
CONSULTANT, THE WORLD BANK

"Discovering my life's most crucible moments had already made me a leader unearthed my power to re-imagine myself leading others."

Destined for leadership?

Here's how to answer the call.

We're looking for individuals who have a demonstrated interest and aptitude in being leaders and who are passionate about learning what it takes to excel. We want students invested in becoming top performers who are ready to make an impact on the world.

After being admitted to the University, only a select group of students will be invited to apply to the Buccino Leadership Institute. All students who complete the four-year, non-credit-bearing program will receive a certificate in leadership that will be recognized at graduation and will appear on their official transcripts.
