SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

G. K. Chesterton, (1874-1936) was an English writer. His prolific and diverse output included philosophy, poetry, plays, journalism, public lectures and debates, literary and art criticism and fiction. He has been called “the prince of paradox.” His diverse body of work and his ability to write about serious subjects in a style accessible to the ordinary reader made him one of the most beloved figures twentieth-century literature.

His thought and philosophy of life are of particular importance to those who value the sacramental tradition, Catholic social teaching and Christian spirituality. His works have been translated into many languages and because his writings are the subject of study by students and scholars, they continue to reach new generations of readers.

About the Institute

CENTER FOR CATHOLIC STUDIES
G.K. Chesterton Institute for Faith & Culture

SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

History

The G. K. Chesterton Institute for Faith & Culture founded by Father Ian Boyd in 1974 is based at Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey.

Previously, from 1974 to 1999 the Institute was based at St. Thomas More College in Saskatchewan, Canada where Father Boyd was a member of the faculty of the English Department.

Mission

The purpose of the Institute is to promote the thought of G. K. Chesterton and his circle and, more broadly, to explore the application of Chestertonian ideas to the contemporary world through social and economic projects, lectures and seminars and their application in the world of today.

The work of the Institute is one

- * of recovery through Chesterton and the tradition he represents
- * it proposes a re-awakening of the moral and sacramental imagination
- * a renewed sense of human dignity
- * a re-evangelization of culture
- * And a return to social sanity

The Institute does this work through its publications is engaged in a growing programme of research, conferences and symposiums in the United States and around the world.

The Chesterton Institute holds lectures and conferences in the United States and around the world, working with Chestertonian organizations and academic institutions of higher education.

All programmes are offered are open to the public and free of charge.

At Seton Hall University, the G. K. Chesterton Institute and The Chesterton Review are part of the Center for Catholic Studies.

Our Outreach

Since its founding, the work of the institute has expanded well beyond the United States and Canada, working with universities, institutions and organizations to promote the work of the Institute and Seton Hall University on a global stage.

Besides the United States and Canada, the Institute has organized programmes in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Spain, Italy, Malta, Poland, Germany, Lithuania, Croatia, Japan, Australia, Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile & Cuba.

The Chesterton Review

CENTER FOR CATHOLIC STUDIES
G.K. Chesterton Institute for Faith & Culture

SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

The Chesterton Review is the journal of the G. K. Chesterton Institute and it has been widely praised for both its scholarship and the quality of its writing.

The Chesterton Review promotes an interest in all aspects of Chesterton's life, work, art and ideas, including his Christian apologetics. The Review includes Chesterton writings and a variety of articles of issues close to his heart.

The Chesterton Review, founded in 1974, has been widely praised both for its scholarship and for the quality of its writing. Edited by Father Ian Boyd, it includes a wide range of articles, not only on Chesterton himself, but also on the work of other writers. It has devoted special issues to C. S. Lewis, George Bernanos, Hilaire Belloc, Maurice Baring, Christopher Dawson, Cardinal Manning, J. R. R. Tolkien, Fantasy Literature, a Special Polish Issue, the Easter Uprising of 1916, a Special Journalism Issue and a Special Croatian Issue among others.

Chesterton Journalism Award

In September 2018
The Chesterton Review
presented the First
Chesterton Journalism
Award to

Mr. William McGurn
